Environmental Protection & Sustainability

Introduction

Sustainability is at the heart of Novum's development strategy.

We are engaging with society - ensuring that we protect and preserve those communities impacted by our operations; keeping our employees healthy, safe and secure in the workplace; and continuing to enhance our knowledge and skills through lifelong learning opportunities.

We are protecting the natural environment - implementing robust safety policies and procedures and taking every due precaution.

We are investing in the future of our company - ensuring responsible and sustainable business development accompanied by robust governance, integrity and accountability.

As a global supply and logistics company, Novum is involved in the movement of crude, fuel oil, gasoline and distillates throughout the world via ships, barges, railcars and trucks, all of which carry an inherent risk. However, through robust safety policies, training and inspections, Novum has to date successfully managed the risk of environmental incidents occurring throughout its operations. We are confident that we have the systems in place to ensure that our excellent environmental track record continues throughout our global operations.

Environmental Policies

Every ship and barge Novum charters undergoes our rigorous internal and external screening process.

The vast majority of ships chartered by Novum are under 15 years old, and the few older ships that are chartered on an exceptional basis are in possession of the highest Condition Assessment Program ratings. Every ship we use is in compliance with applicable domestic and international governing body regulations and must maintain those approvals in order to be used for the transportation of our products. Novum requires ship operators to maintain up-to-date inspection reports through the Ship Inspection Reports Program (SIRE) This program, originally introduced by the Oil Companies International Marine Forum in 1993, is the industry standard tool to evaluate the quality and safety of the ships used for transportation, are required to be up to date.

Special attention is given to river barges trading in sensitive geographical areas. Additional personnel have been hired for this specific purpose. In these areas, Novum has implemented a vetting ranking system that will help in identifying less optimal and efficient barges while strengthening Novum's ability to reduce their use. Together with new operations manuals, implementation, and consistent crew training, Novum prudently manages the risks associated with every operation.

Additional External Vetting Process

In accordance with the Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) and other global trade regulations and sanctions requirements and policies related to countries, political systems and individuals, additional vetting is carried out via the use of a dedicated software program created by Windward. This software is extensively used throughout our industry. All third party nominated vessels must undergo the same vetting processes.

Terminal Vetting

Vetting is not limited to ships alone. Whenever new tanks are leased, an inspection of these tanks and the terminals where they are located takes place. Safety is always paramount and before any product is introduced into any tank, a vetting operation is carried out by internationally recognized inspection companies using one or more of their certified inspectors.

Employee Training

While senior Novum employees have gained their significant experience at other international trading organizations, junior team members undergo a training and development program in-house by a few selected senior members of our team on a wide range of matters such as Tanker Operation, Voyage Orders and Inspectors Nominations. These – together with instructions on compliance with specific port and terminal requirements for different sized vessels and types of cargo – ensure that any potential operational risks are reduced to a minimum. Should one encounter an operational problem, it is Novum's strict policy to address it immediately in order to find the root cause of the problem and share any findings with all operators. A tanker operations manual has been issued and distributed among the operators.

Environmental Innovation

Novum is involved in discussions regarding the development of an innovative method for the sampling of petroleum products from shore tanks. This method, internationally patented, would allow for a remote-controlled and entirely automated sampling of product out of any shore tank 24/7/365 without the need for an inspector to climb to the roof of the tank to open sampling ports that release gases in the atmosphere. The benefits of the ATS system are vast – a clean carbon footprint, better tank turnaround, manpower savings, immediate tank quality results, consistency of sampling and analysis, demurrage savings and refinery output optimization.

Investing in Solar Energy

Novum Energy has invested directly with the Government of Morocco in Maroc Photovoltaïque SARL, a company developing a solar PV project with capacity of up to 150 MW in Ain Bin Mathar, Jerada province in northwest Morocco. Connection and grid access agreements have been executed in 2022 with a 24-year land lease and environmental studies have been completed. This project is part of the Moroccan government's ambition to raise its renewable energy share to 52% by 2030 and reduce fuel oil and diesel imports from Spain for power generation.

Our Carbon Footprint - Assessment & Reduction

Novum recognizes the environmental impact of its carbon footprint and accepts the need for change to protect the world we live in. We believe in an orderly energy transition and are striving to work with like-minded partners and technologies to contribute to this evolution towards clean energy. Part of this journey involves the analysis and evaluation of the emissions generated from our operations. To better understand this, we have worked with the carbon accounting software CarbonChain to evaluate our carbon footprint, and the platform confirmed we are better than industry average. We consistently work with our partners to collaborate on innovative sustainable strategies to reduce emissions and accelerate our transition to a cleaner future.

Elevating Lives, Enriching Communities: Meet Some of our Foundation and Corporate Partners

Through strategic partnerships and dedicated initiatives, Novum Energy and the Novum Foundation are driving meaningful change in communities worldwide. Here are just a few examples of our impact.

UNITED STATES

Elijah's Retreat

In the heart of 2023, a profound partnership unfolded as the Novum Foundation extended its support to Elijah's Retreat in Jacksonville, TX. Elijah's Retreat stands as a sanctuary designed for families with children navigating the challenges of autism, offering them an idyllic haven to rejuvenate, bond and cultivate connections with other families treading similar paths. This haven, shielded from the unforgiving gaze of society, not only fosters a nurturing environment but also facilitates holistic growth within these families. Against the backdrop of this oasis, understanding flourishes, freeing families to embrace their journey with autism wholeheartedly. The retreat's diverse array of enriching activities, from equine therapy and petting zoos to sensory gardens and hiking trails, seamlessly integrates families into the natural world, providing respite from the clutches of technology.

The grant bestowed by the Novum Foundation bore a remarkable purpose - to erect the sixth and final cabin of Elijah's Retreat, a pivotal endeavor to accommodate the burgeoning demand. With waitlists stretching long and yearly spots filling in a matter of moments, this opportunity burgeoned into a transformative force, poised to impact the lives of countless families. By adding space for an additional 80 families annually, the final cabin will usher Elijah's Retreat into the next phase of their outreach and development.

As the pages of collaboration turned, the vision transcended mere accommodation; the Novum NetZero Cabin materialized. This cabin not only prioritizes energy efficiency, but also takes a stride towards environmental responsibility. Solar panels adorning the cabin stand as emblems of sustainability, injecting the farm with surplus energy while curbing carbon emissions. In an era of high energy demands, this undertaking lays the cornerstone for a renewable-powered future, where families find solace in Elijah's Retreat while simultaneously advancing a greener, more conscious world.

The project aims to break the cycle of poverty and limited opportunities, addressing challenges such as undernutrition and a lack of quality education. In addition to financial support, the project focuses on enhancing educational facilities and resources to create an environment conducive to growth and learning. The ultimate goal is to ensure that each child and teenager reaches their educational potential and is well-prepared for the competitive world beyond their community. The grant plays a pivotal role in realizing this vision by funding scholarships, essential materials, and educational space improvements, ultimately paving the way for a brighter future for these resilient young individuals.

Sumando Manos

In partnership with Sumando Manos, the Novum Foundation is driving transformative change across four communities with an ingenious apiculture initiative. This project not only provides essential beehives and equipment but also imparts comprehensive training in honey production. This freshly harvested honey serves as a valuable commodity that can be sold, thereby fostering self-reliance and simultaneously replenishing vital bee populations. ## TANZANIA

Amani Foundation

In Tanzania, Novum has partnered with the Amani Children's Home & Foundation to construct wildlife-resistant fencing to safeguard farms, which is critical to expanding livestock herds. This expansion boosts organic waste production to fuel their on-site biogas system. Our support also launched a program to distribute pregnant goats and starter kits to families, creating a foundation for food security while empowering families to achieve financial independence. As part of the program's ripple effect, the first offspring are returned to support additional families, fostering a pay-it-forward model. Goats are a resilient and sustainable resource, requiring minimal environmental impact while offering a source of income and nutrition.

UNITED KINGDOM

The Nucleo Project

Nucleo is the only organization of its kind in England – a free, immersive, ensemble-based, after-school program for students aged infant to 20, aimed at changing lives and building community through music. Through Novum Foundation's partnership with Nucleo, we can open the door to a musical education for many students who would not otherwise have this opportunity. As a community-based after-school program, the goal is not only musical excellence, but also personal development, building skills for learning and life through music-making and teamwork, and providing a nurturing, inspiring and joyful environment for our students and their families.

Specifically, Novum supports Nucleo's Junior Programme, enabling them to provide instruments and deliver activities for over 60 students aged 4 to 7. They receive instrumental instruction 2-3 times a week – where they are learning to play the violin, viola, cello, double bass and percussion - as well as a weekly musicianship class, where they develop their listening and musical literacy skills. These early stages in our students' musical lives are the foundation for their future success both at Nucleo and beyond as they gain cognitive abilities, learning skills, and self-confidence.

Tiny Tickers

Tiny Tickers is a small charity working in the United Kingdom to help babies with life-threatening congenital heart disease (CHD). The Novum Foundation's support helps this organization train health professionals to detect CHD, place vital equipment in hospitals, and provide support to families. Through our partnership with Tiny Tickers, we are working to save lives and help families cope during a time of crisis.

Our partnership has allowed Tiny Tickers to provide 15 fully-funded sonographer training days at NHS hospitals. At these training days, approximately 150 sonographers have the opportunity to improve their skills and confidence in scanning the fetal heart during pregnancy screening. This practical training helps sonographers accurately capture views of the fetal heart and confidently detect potential CHD. This is precise work – the sonographers are assessing the heart when it's the size of an acorn – and increasing antenatal detection rates of CHD helps save lives.

Responsible Corporate Citizenship

At Novum, we take immense pride in our role as responsible corporate citizens on a global scale. Our commitment extends across all facets of our operations, reflecting our dedication to ethical conduct, environmental responsibility and sustainability.

Since mid-2022, commensurate with our growth as a global trading house, Novum has enhanced its global, corporate governance structure, our so-called “chassis”.

We have implemented our code of ethics and related policies as written standards that are reasonably designed to deter wrongdoing and promote honest and ethical conduct, including how to handle conflicts of interest between personal and professional relationships, compliance with applicable laws, rules and regulations, prompt internal reporting of any violations of the code to the appropriate personnel specified in the code and accountability for complying with the code.

Innovation and Compliance Culture

We embrace innovation and have cultivated a culture that prioritizes compliance, teamwork and integration. Novum's leadership team is entrusted with the responsibility of not only nurturing but also continually reinforcing this culture throughout the organization.

Code of Conduct and Risk Management

Novum's Code of Conduct serves as a guiding document for every internal policy and framework, outlining the fundamental principles and core values that are obligatory for every member of our organization. This code sets the standard for ethical behavior, reinforcing our commitment to responsible corporate citizenship. Our approach is further grounded in stringent compliance with applicable global anti-bribery/anti-corruption laws, sanctions and KYC/AML laws, standards and regulations. Our ABC policy is a cornerstone of our governance framework. It applies uniformly to every entity within the Novum family, extending its reach to encompass our directors, employees, agents and, where applicable, third parties.

Novum's Risk Management Policy is one of the core responsibilities of the Group's leadership and it is central to our decision-making processes. We seek to identify and manage the market, financial and operational risks associated with global supply and logistics. Our Risk Management Policy establishes guidelines for employees to manage market risks and describes how the Group defines, manages and mitigates its exposures and assigns responsibilities for managing our risk management program. Novum has undertaken an initiative to enhance our ETRM system to be a robust and comprehensive tool whereby Novum can effectively identify and prevent various risks related to commodity price volatility and market risk. Having this tool provides robust controls and enhanced reporting for Novum's Leadership Team to effectively consider and manage risk.

Effective risk management is crucial in helping the Company achieve its objectives of preserving its overall financial strength for the benefit of all stakeholders and safeguarding its ability to continue as a going concern while generating sustainable long-term returns. With a priority of fraud prevention, the Leadership Team with its significant risk management expertise, is responsible for setting, approving and monitoring the organization's risk management policies, credit policies and internal controls.

But just as importantly, our risk policy, risk and position limits, are the other cornerstone of the prudent management of our business.

All of this is supported by compliance vetting platforms such as KOMGO© and other digital data repositories and management tools.

Market Conduct

Novum requires all employees to behave and trade in a way that is appropriate and in compliance with market-abuse rules and regulations. All trading activities must be performed for genuine economic reasons and not to mislead or manipulate the market. We do not condone collusive or abusive strategies, or trading whilst in possession of inside information. We further ensure that all our transactions fall outside the scope of market abuse or market manipulation. All employees must be familiar with the market-abuse rules and regulations applicable to their activities and are expected to act in accordance with them at all times.

Policies & Guidance

Novum Energy's Code of Conduct was established to outline our principles, standards and values. This includes our expectations for ethical behavior, integrity, professional competence and confidentiality. Policies of note under the Code include:

- Our Whistleblower policies and apparatus provide stakeholders (including employees, suppliers, customers and members of the public) with simple, safe, confidential and reliable ways of reporting suspected incidents of non-compliance.
- Novum's policies and procedures on Conflicts of Interest enable us to identify and manage situations of actual, potential and or perceived conflicts of interest.
- Novum has invested considerable time and resources into devising and implementing a robust Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption Policy (or ABC policy) that clearly sets out the requirement of all employees and business partners to uphold our position against bribery and corruption. We routinely provide information, training and guidance on how to recognize and deal with bribery and corruption issues.
- Effective risk management is crucial in helping the Company achieve its objectives of preserving its overall financial strength for the benefit of all stakeholders and safeguarding its ability to continue as a going concern while generating sustainable long-term returns. With a priority of fraud prevention, the Leadership Team with its significant risk management expertise, is responsible for setting, approving, monitoring and updating the organization's risk management policies, credit policies and internal controls.

These and other policies ensure that Novum's principles and values are upheld, including our commitments to people, the environment and our performance. We believe that good corporate governance leads to ethical business practices. It is the responsibility of the Board of Directors and the Leadership Team to ensure that we achieve these objectives.

Reviewing & Refreshing our Governance Policies

As the Group grows its global footprint, it is aware of the need to continuously risk- assess, review and refresh its governance policies and procedures to ensure they remain of the highest standards and continue to be relevant to the organization.

Transparent Framework

Our corporate framework is characterized by clarity and transparency. We have established a clear framework that governs the conduct of our business, emphasizing ethical practices, compliance with regulations and a commitment to sustainability. Whether it is conflicts of interest, corporate opportunities, confidentiality, fair dealing, proper use and protection of company assets and reporting of any illegal or unethical behaviors, our policies and our approach aspire to emulate public company mandates while remaining a nimble privately-owned company.

Corporate Organization

The Novum Management Team (the M7) plays a pivotal role in steering our organization in the right direction. We acknowledge the critical importance of setting the right tone and defining appropriate objectives for our organization.

The M7 replicates the Continental European model of a dual board structure consisting of a management board and a supervisory board.

Our M7 works collectively and continuously as the advisory body, ensuring that our values and principles are upheld throughout every level of the company. The ultimate parent board therefore has the benefit of being a de facto management board, with input from the expert C- Level expertise. These checks and balances are an additional risk management tool in an industry that has traversed periodic volatility on account of a myriad of geopolitical, economic and weather events.

Novum's Dedication to Principles

At Novum, governance is more than just a set of rules and regulations; it's a reflection of our commitment to the planet and ethical conduct. Our dedication to transparency, compliance and ethical behavior aligns seamlessly with our vision for a sustainable and responsible future.
